

Restart an Income Account

(including Transition to Retirement (TTR) Income account)

When to use this form

Complete this form if you want to close your current Income account and start a new Income account with additional funds.

When restarting your Income account, remember:

- If you receive regular Services Australia payments, make sure you talk to Services Australia or get financial advice before restarting your account, as it may affect your Services Australia payments.
- For QSuper Transition to Retirement (TTR) Income accounts, you can only restart your account once in a financial year.
- When we restart your Income account, we close your current Income account and transfer all money back to a QSuper Accumulation account. If you don't already have an Accumulation account, you'll need to open one first. You can do this easily in Member Online or using the form at the back of the Product Disclosure Statement for Accumulation Account.

Do not complete this form if:

- You want to start a new (or second) Income account, and keep your existing account. Instead, complete the Open a Retirement Income Account and/or Lifetime Pension form at the back of the Product Disclosure Statement for Income Account and Lifetime Pension (PDS), available at qsuper.qld.gov.au/pds
- You want to purchase a Lifetime Pension. Instead, complete the Open an Income Account and/or Lifetime Pension form at the back of the PDS. Please note that Lifetime Pension accounts cannot be restarted or cancelled once they have commenced.
- You are the eligible recipient of a death benefit (including reversionary beneficiaries). You cannot restart your Income account but you can take lump sums when you need funds or rollover to another income stream.

Please complete in BLOCK letters, using blue or black ink.

I am opening a new Transition to Retirement (TTR) Income account, as I am over my preservation age, but under age 65 and not retired (see the Product Disclosure Statement for Income Account and Lifetime Pension for more information).

Note: If you have ongoing employer or personal contributions being made to a QSuper Accumulation account, you will need to retain an additional $10,000 or more in your Accumulation account to keep your account open.

4 Funding your new Income account

When we restart your Income account, we close your current Income account and transfer all money back to your QSuper Accumulation account. This means you'll stop receiving income payments until your new Income account starts.

If you don't have an Accumulation account yet

You can open a QSuper Accumulation account in Member Online (memberonline.qsuper.qld.gov.au) or with the Open an Accumulation Account form (qsuper.qld.gov.au/forms). Then you can return to complete this form.

I have an existing QSuper Accumulation account.

If you have any additional money you would like to add from outside your QSuper account/s, we will put these into your Accumulation account and wait until all your money is collected before starting your new Income account.

The total approximate opening balance of my new Income account should be:

5 Claiming a tax deduction

Do you want to claim a tax deduction for the current financial year for any personal super contributions?

Yes No

If you're aged 67-74, you need to meet the work test if you want to claim a tax deduction for your contribution.

If yes, please lodge a Notice of Intent to Claim or Vary a Deduction for Personal Super Contributions form with the relevant super fund BEFORE starting your Income account.

For more information on claiming a tax deduction with us, including eligibility and how to claim, please refer to our Notice of Intent to Claim or Vary a Deduction for Personal Super Contributions form and factsheet, available at qsuper.qld.gov.au/forms or call us on 1300 360 750 to discuss your options.

Using money from a Defined Benefit account

- If you are still with your employer, your multiple will reduce proportionally by the amount of money you withdraw from your defined benefit.
- If you have left your employer, your Defined Benefit account will be closed and any remaining money will be transferred into an Accumulation account before being transferred to your Income account.
- See the Defined Benefit Account Guide for more information about restarting your Income account using money from a Defined Benefit account.

9 Nominating beneficiaries (optional)

You can choose one or both of the following options when it comes to who receives the money left in your Income account when you pass away. These options have tax and social security implications, so please read the Product Disclosure Statement for Income Account and Lifetime Pension and you may wish to consider getting personal financial advice before making a nomination.

You can make and change your nomination after your account is open. If you do not make a nomination, the Trustee will determine who to pay your super to, subject to Australian legislation.

You can prove your identity by either:

To prove your identity electronically, please provide us with your driver's licence or passport number.

This will allow us to verify you under the Anti-Money Laundering and Counter-Terrorism Financing Act 2006 before making your payment. It doesn't give us access to other information about you, our request won't be recorded on your credit information file, and the CRA can't use it for anything else. If we cannot identify you in this way, we will write to you advising the name of the CRA and another way to verify your identity.

I confirm that I am authorised to provide the personal details presented and I consent to my information being checked with the document issuer or official record holder.

Driver's licence number State of issue

If using your driver's licence as proof of identity, please also give us your driver's licence card number, which is different to your licence number.
