1 About QSuper

For over 100 years, QSuper has looked after the people who look after Queensland. Today, we are one of the largest superannuation funds in Australia¹ and look after the retirement savings of over 585,000 members.

We strive to help you make the most of today, while planning to achieve your retirement goals. We do this through our unique investment philosophy, award-winning products,² financial education, and personal service.

QSuper Accumulation account

Our Accumulation account can help you save for retirement during your working years.

With an Accumulation account, you can leave your money in our default investment option, Lifetime. This option uses your age and Lifetime account balance to set an investment strategy that suits your life stage.

If you would like more control over your investments, you can choose from a range of Diversified and Single Sector investment options. You also have access to Self Invest, where you can invest directly in shares, term deposits, or exchange traded funds (ETFs).

For more information about our Accumulation account, read the Accumulation Account Guide on our website – qsuper.qld.gov.au/pds

QSuper Income account

With a Retirement Income account, you can turn your super into a regular income in retirement. Investment earnings are tax free, and you can easily manage your account via Member Online.

If you want to supplement your income while you are still working, our Transition to Retirement (TTR) Income account can provide you with tax-effective regular payments. You can open a TTR Income account if you have reached what's known as your preservation age (between age 58 and 60, depending on when you were born), are under age 65, and are still working.

If you do not make an investment choice when opening an Income account, you will be invested in Balanced as our default option.

For more information about our Retirement Income account and TTR Income account, read the Income Account Guide on our website – qsuper.qld.gov.au/pds

Defined Benefit products

The QSuper Board also administers defined benefit products, which are now closed to new members. These defined benefit products are funded separately. You will not be acquiring an interest in a defined benefit product. In relation to your Accumulation or Income account, the QSuper Board will comply with the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993 (Cth) and APRA Prudential Standards in a manner consistent with other public offer superannuation funds. More information is available online at qsuper.qld.gov.au/disclosure

General advice warning

The information provided in this PDS is general information only and does not take into account your personal financial situation or needs. You should consider whether the information is appropriate to your personal circumstances and needs before acting on it and, where necessary, seek professional financial advice tailored to your personal circumstances.

Save for retirement

Superannuation is designed to help you save for when you stop working through long-term investment returns and tax savings incentives provided by the Australian Government.

While you are working, your employer will pay a compulsory amount to your super known as the Superannuation Guarantee (SG).

Other types of contributions include voluntary contributions, spouse contributions, and the Australian Government's co-contribution.

There are limits, or caps, on how much you can contribute into your super.

Access your super

You generally cannot access your super until you have reached your preservation age (between age 58 and 60, depending on when you were born) and retired. Earlier access is allowed in limited circumstances.

Turn your super into income

Once you reach your preservation age and retire, or start gradually easing into retirement, you can set up an Income account.

Choose your super fund

Most people can choose which super fund they want their employer to pay their SG contributions into. If you do not make a choice, your SG contributions will go into your employer's nominated default super fund.

4 Risks of super

All investments carry risk, and different strategies may carry different levels of risk, depending on both the assets that make up that strategy and the investment timeframe.

Assets with the highest long-term returns may also carry the highest level of short-term risk.

Risks of investing in super include:

- Investment returns will vary over time, as will the value of your investments.
- Future returns may be different to past returns.
- Investment returns are not guaranteed, and sometimes investment returns may be negative, which may reduce your account balance.
- The laws affecting your super may change.
- The balance of your super, including contributions and investment returns, may not be enough to provide enough money for the length of your retirement, or to keep pace with inflation.
- Investment options may close or change, or an investment manager may underperform, which could affect the returns of your investment option.

Making any investment involves some level of risk. The level of risk for each person will vary depending on a range of factors, including age, investment timeframes, where other parts of the person's wealth are invested, and the person's risk tolerance.

Read the important information about the risks of super in the Investment Choice Guide before making a decision. Access the guide at qsuper.qld.gov.au/pds or call us to request a copy, free of charge. The material relating to the risks of super may change between when you read this PDS and the day you acquire this product.

5 How we invest your money

When you open an Accumulation account and have not made an investment choice, you will be automatically invested into our default option, Lifetime.

If you start an Income account and do not make an investment choice, your money will be invested in our Balanced option.

If you want more personalised control over your investments, we offer the following options:

Diversified options: Pre-mixed investment options offering diversification across asset classes:

- Moderate
- Balanced
- Aggressive
- Socially Responsible.

Single Sector options: Invest in individual asset classes:

- Cash
- Diversified Bonds
- International Shares
- Australian Shares.

Self Invest: Invest some of your super directly in shares, exchange traded funds (ETFs), and/or term deposits. This option is managed entirely online and is not available with our Transition to Retirement Income account.

For more information about each of our investment options, read the Investment Choice Guide available online at qsuper.qld.gov.au/pds

When deciding how to invest your super, you must consider the likely investment return, the risk, and your investment timeframe.

Our default investment options

Our default investment option for Accumulation accounts is called Lifetime. This option automatically adjusts your investment strategy based on your age and Lifetime account balance.

This means your money is invested more aggressively when you are younger, and is more protected as you approach retirement.

The following tables give you an idea of what to expect from Lifetime (for Accumulation accounts) and Balanced (for Income accounts).

How to change investment options

You can change your investment option/s via Member Online or by completing the relevant Switch Investments form available at qsuper.qld.gov.au/forms. QSuper does not charge a fee to switch investment options.

Changes to the investment options we offer

From time to time we may add to, close, or change our investment options. We will notify you of any significant change.

Before making a decision, read the important information about QSuper's investment options in the Investment Choice Guide available at qsuper.qld.gov.au/pds or call us to request a copy, free of charge. The material relating to QSuper's investment options may change between when you read this PDS and the day you acquire the product.

Responsible investment policy

QSuper considers ESG (environmental, social, governance) issues within a framework focused on providing competitive returns for our members. QSuper doesn't own shares in companies involved in manufacturing cigarettes and other tobacco products (Global Industry Classification Code 302030), cluster munitions, or land mines. The only exception is Self Invest, where you control all socially responsible investment decisions.

We also offer our Socially Responsible investment option, which is managed using investment principles we consider to align with sound ESG principles.

We reserve the right to limit investment switches and partial withdrawals. See qsuper.qld.gov.au for information and changes.

6 Fees and other costs

Did you know?

Small differences in both investment performance and fees and costs can have a substantial impact on your long-term returns. For example, total annual fees and costs of 2% of your account balance, rather than 1%, could reduce your final return by up to 20% over a 30-year period (for example, reduce it from $100,000 to $80,000). You should consider whether features such as superior investment performance or the provision of better member services justify higher fees and costs. You or your employer, as applicable, may be able to negotiate to pay lower fees. Ask the fund or your financial adviser.

To find out more

If you would like to find out more or see the impact of the fees based on your own circumstances, the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) website (moneysmart.gov.au) has a superannuation fee calculator to help you check different fee options.

Fees and costs

This document shows fees and other costs that you may be charged. These fees and other costs may be deducted from your account, from the returns on your investment, or from the assets of QSuper as a whole. Other fees, such as activity fees, advice fees for personal advice, and insurance fees, may also be charged, but these will depend on the nature of the activity, advice, or insurance chosen by you.

Taxes, insurance fees, and other costs are set out in another part of this document. You should read all the information about fees and other costs because it is important to understand their impact on your investment.

The fees and other costs for each MySuper product and investment option offered by QSuper are set out in the Accumulation Account Guide and Income Account Guide.

Additional explanation of fees and costs

QSuper can change the fees which you may be charged. You will be given at least 30 days' notice before any increase in administration, insurance, or advice fees takes effect.

The investment fee and indirect cost ratio are based on the fees and costs for the financial year ended 30 June 2020 and may differ from future fees and costs. Investment fees also include performance-based fees. For more information, see the Accumulation Account Guide and Income Account Guide.

Under Government legislation, if your account balance with a superannuation fund is less than $6,000 at the end of the financial year (30 June), or on exit, the total combined amount of administration and investment fees, and indirect costs that can be charged to you is capped at 3% (calculated using your account balance as at 30 June, or for the proportionate period, if you exit). Any amount charged in excess of this cap must be refunded within three months of the end of the financial year.

At QSuper, if your administration fee exceeds $900 in a financial year (totalled across all your Accumulation and Income accounts), you will get a refund of any amount you pay over the cap into your account/s in July of the following financial year, as long as you still have an account with QSuper at the time of the refund.

Personal financial advice that relates only to your QSuper account can be provided over the phone, via email, or face-to-face. Examples of this type of advice include providing advice on switching between investment options, whether to make additional super contributions, and the level of insurance cover that you hold with the fund.

Advice fees

If you receive personal financial advice, you may be able to deduct an advice fee directly from your account. Fees vary depending on the type of advice provided and will be set out in a Statement of Advice the adviser gives you. If you have this option, you will need to authorise QSuper to deduct the fee from your account. Payment of an advice fee is at QSuper's discretion. QSuper is not responsible for the advice provided by third-party advisers and QSuper will not pay or receive any referral fees.

Default options – example of annual fees and costs

This table gives an example of how the fees and costs for our default options can affect your superannuation investment over a one-year period. You can use this table to compare different superannuation products.

Accumulation account holders
Example – Lifetime Outlook		Balance of $50,000
Investment fees	0.45% p.a.	For every $50,000 you have in Lifetime Outlook, you will be charged $225 each year.
PLUS Administration fees	0.16% p.a.	And , you will be charged $80 each year in administration fees.
PLUS Indirect costs for Lifetime Outlook	0.13% p.a.	And , indirect costs of $65 each year will be deducted from your investment.

Income account holders
Example – Balanced		Balance of $50,000
Investment fees	0.38% p.a.	For every $50,000 you have in Balanced you will be charged $190 each year.
PLUS Administration fees	0.16% p.a.	And , you will be charged $80 each year in administration fees.
PLUS Indirect costs for Balanced	0.10% p.a.	And , indirect costs of $50 each year will be deducted from your investment.

Note: Additional fees may apply, and these are provided in the tables on pages 8 and 9.

Read the important information about fees and costs (including definitions and explanations of fee types) for all investment options in the Accumulation Account Guide and Income Account Guide before making a decision. Go to the guides available at qsuper.qld.gov.au/pds or call us to request a copy, free of charge. You can find the definitions of each fee type at qsuper.qld.gov.au/fees. The material relating to fees and costs may change between when you read this PDS and the day you acquire the product.

7 How super is taxed

Super can be a tax-effective way of saving for your retirement, as it's generally taxed at a lower rate than most other investments. Tax payable on contributions (money in) and withdrawals (money out) is paid directly from your account or from the withdrawal itself. Any withdrawals you make once you turn age 60 are generally tax-free.

Contribution caps apply to your super, and it is important to be aware that there are tax implications if you exceed the caps.

Tax on contributions

	Before-tax (concessional contributions)	After-tax (non-concessional contributions)
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Employer contributions Salary sacrifice arrangements Contributions for which a tax deduction has been claimed 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Contributions made from your after-tax salary Spouse contributions
Contributions cap	$25,000 per year¹ (or higher if you have unused carry forward concessional contributions and your total superannuation balance is less than $500,000).	$100,000 per year² (or up to $300,000 over three years if certain conditions are met). Nil if your total superannuation balance exceeds $1.6 million.
Tax on contributions within the cap	15% if your income ³ plus concessional contributions are over $250,000 per year, you pay 30% tax on some or all of your contributions.	0%
Tax on contributions exceeding your cap	Marginal tax rate plus interest charges (on any contributions over your cap). You can claim up to 85% of your excess concessional contributions in a financial year back from your super.	0% on excess contributions that you withdraw and marginal tax rate plus an interest charge on the associated earnings (a 15% non-refundable tax offset applies to the associated earnings). 47% on excess contributions that you do not withdraw.

Tax on investment earnings

Accumulation account	Transition to Retirement Income account	Retirement Income account
Up to 15%	Up to 15%	Tax-free

For more information, see the Investment Choice Guide.

Tax on lump sum withdrawals and income payments

If you're aged 60 or older, lump sum withdrawals and income payments are usually tax-free. If you're under age 60, tax may be payable on the taxable component of your super. However, if you have reached your preservation age, you may be eligible for a tax offset or a tax reduction under the low rate cap, which is $215,000 for the 2020-21 financial year. For more information, see the Accumulation Account Guide and the Income Account Guide.

1 This is the concessional cap for the 2020-21 financial year. 2 This is the non-concessional cap for the 2020-21 financial year. 3 This means income for surcharge purposes (less any reportable superannuation contributions), which equals your taxable income less any assessable first home super saver amount, plus your reportable fringe benefits and any net investment loss for the income year.

The Retirement Income account transfer balance cap

There are limits on how much of your super you can transfer into a Retirement Income account. This limit is known as the 'transfer balance cap'. The cap is set at $1.6 million for each individual for the 2020-21 financial year and is managed by the Australian Taxation Office (ATO). For more information, see the Income Account Guide.

Do we have your tax file number (TFN)?

You should provide us with your TFN when you join QSuper. You do not have to provide your TFN, but without it, you may not be able to make some types of contributions, and in some cases, you may have to pay additional tax.

Read the important information about how super is taxed before making a decision. Access the Accumulation Account Guide and the Income Account Guide at qsuper.qld.gov.au/pds or call us to request a copy, free of charge. The material relating to how super is taxed may change between when you read this PDS and the day you acquire the product. For more information about contributions, see the Accumulation Account Guide. From time to time the Australian Government may introduce additional levies. If this happens, we will update this information on our website.

8 Insurance in your super

When a QSuper Accumulation account is opened, you will automatically receive default insurance cover, if you are eligible. The type/s of insurance you may receive include: death cover, total and permanent disability (TPD) cover, and/or income protection cover. Insurance is not available with an Income account.

Summary of our default insurance

The default insurance cover you can receive is based on how your account commenced and your age. Refer to the Accumulation Account Insurance Guide for more information. In addition to other eligibility requirements, you will automatically receive insurance when you meet one of the below requirements:

- You're aged 25 or older and your Accumulation account balance has been $6,000 or more, and we have received money into your account in the last 13 months, or
- You work for Queensland emergency services, being Queensland Police Service (QPS), Queensland Ambulance Service (QAS), or Queensland Fire and Emergency Service (QFES), as you are covered by the dangerous occupation exception.

If you want default insurance before you meet the above requirements, you can apply for cover. Any application will be subject to eligibility, a pre-existing exclusion period may apply, and you will need to permanently opt in to cover when you apply.¹

The table on the next page outlines the level of default insurance cover that you will either automatically receive or that you can apply for. If you apply to join QSuper directly, and your account is activated when we receive a contribution from a Queensland Government or default employer, you will automatically receive the default insurance cover that applies to your employment situation when cover commences (once otherwise eligible). Keep in mind that other special arrangements apply if you applied to join QSuper directly.

Premiums for members who joined QSuper directly and have occupationally rated, and all other premiums are available in the Accumulation Account Insurance Guide. Premiums may be subject to rounding.

1 Your cover will be considered personalised and premiums payable at the occupational rate. If you were under age 16 when you applied to join, and weren't asked any occupational rating questions, your premiums will be payable at the standard rate. 2 Subject to a maximum monthly benefit of $5,000 per month if you are employed on a casual basis.

Eligibility criteria and exclusions

In some circumstances you might not be eligible for cover, and/or be excluded from receiving a benefit. Please ensure you meet our eligibility criteria and cancel your cover to stop paying premiums for cover that you are not eligible for. For more information, see the Accumulation Account Insurance Guide.

Applying for, making changes to, and cancelling insurance

It's easy to apply for insurance with QSuper, make changes to personalise your insurance arrangements, or cancel any or all of your insurance. Log in to Member Online, call us, or complete the Change of Insurance form or Application to Cancel Insurance form. You can get forms from the website or by calling us.

If you apply for insurance (including default insurance) or additional units of cover within 120 days of starting your job with the Queensland Government or a default employer, you may not need to provide health and other information.

Read all the information about terms and conditions (including insurance eligibility and exclusions) in the Accumulation Account Insurance Guide before you decide whether insurance is appropriate, as it may affect your entitlement to insurance cover or to receive a benefit. You can cancel your cover at any time. We will continue to deduct premiums from your account unless there is not enough money in your account to pay your premiums, or we haven't received money into your account for 13 months. There are various circumstances when cover will end; for more information see the Accumulation Account Insurance Guide.

9 How to open an account

Opening an Accumulation account

It's easy to become a QSuper member:

Directly: You can apply to join online at qsuper.qld.gov.au/join (as long as you meet eligibility requirements), from a referral by a third party, or by completing the Open an Accumulation Account form available at the end of this PDS.

Queensland Government employer or default employer: An Accumulation account is automatically opened for you when your employer makes their first contribution. You do not need to apply to join.

Through a family law split: If you and your spouse separate, family law legislation may require the balance of any super either of you hold to be split. If you are entitled to any super from your spouse and they are a QSuper member, we will open an Accumulation account for you.

Opening an Income account

If you have a minimum of $30,000 to transfer, and meet one of the following circumstances, you may be able to open an Income account:

- You have reached your preservation age (minimum age you can access super), or
- You are an eligible beneficiary of a superannuation death benefit, or
- You met another eligibility requirement, such as being totally and permanently disabled.

You will need to keep a minimum of $10,000 in your Accumulation account to keep it open.

For more information, see our Income Account Guide.

To open an Income account, complete the Open an Income Account form at the end of this PDS. If you are already a QSuper member, you can open your account via Member Online.

If you are not already a QSuper member, you will need to join QSuper by completing the Open an Accumulation Account form or by visiting our website.

Cooling-off period

You (or your employer if you became a member through your employer) have a cooling-off period of 30 calendar days from when your QSuper Accumulation or Income account is opened to decide if the account is right for you.

If you have a complaint, we want to resolve this for you as soon as possible, so please call us on 1300 360 750 (or +617 3239 1004 if calling from overseas).

Under the Superannuation Industry (Supervision) Act 1993, your super fund is authorised to collect your tax file number (TFN), which will only be used for lawful purposes. These purposes may change in the future as a result of legislative change. If you transfer your super to another fund we may disclose your TFN to the other super provider unless you tell us not to in writing. It is not an offence not to quote your TFN. This cover is subject to a five-year pre-existing exclusion period. This means that, within the first-five years of your cover commencing, you will not be able to claim for any illness or injury where the signs or symptoms existed before the date your insurance cover starts.

Tick this box if you want insurance cover:

- Yes I want insurance cover, please complete section 6.

Tick this box if you do not want insurance cover and go to section 8.

If you don't take insurance now, we will not automatically provide you with cover in the future (e.g. if you change employers). You can apply for cover later on, but you may be required to provide health and other information (subject to eligibility).

7 Your duty of disclosure

You have a duty to tell QSuper and its insurer anything that you know, or could reasonably be expected to know, that may affect our decision to insure you and on what terms.

You have this duty until we agree to insure you. You have the same duty before you extend, vary or reinstate the contract. You do not need to tell us anything that:

- Reduces the risk we insure you for; or
- Is common knowledge; or
- We know or should know through our insurer; or
- We waive your duty to tell us about.

If you do not tell us something

In exercising the following rights, the QSuper Board as trustee for QSuper, and its insurer may consider whether different types of cover can constitute separate contracts of life insurance. If we do, we may apply the following rights separately to each type of cover.

If you do not tell QSuper and its insurer anything you are required to, and we would not have insured you if you had told us, we may avoid the contract within three years of entering into it. If QSuper and its insurer choose not to avoid the contract, we may, at any time, reduce the amount you have been insured for. This would be worked out using a formula that takes into account the premium that would have been payable if you had told us everything you should have. However, if the contract provides cover on death, QSuper and its insurer may only exercise this right within three years of entering into the contract. If QSuper and its insurer choose not to avoid the contract or reduce the amount you have been insured for, we may, at any time vary the contract in a way that places us in the same position we would have been in if you had told us everything you should have. However, this right does not apply if the contract provides cover on death. If your failure to tell QSuper and its insurer is fraudulent, we may refuse to pay a claim and treat the contract as if it never existed.

Your duty of disclosure continues until you receive written confirmation from QSuper that your application has been accepted.
